

Register for the Inaugural GI Cancers Online Course!

The new ONS Site-Specific Cancer Series: Gastrointestinal \(GI\) Cancers Online Course provides the clinical information to help you understand the complexities of screening, prevention, diagnosis, treatment, and symptom management of the various types of GI cancers. Be a part of the first course – classes starts September 15 and registration ends on September 8 so act now !

After taking this new online course, you'll be able to:

- Understand the fundamentals of the care of patients with various types of GI cancers – you'll learn about anatomy of organs within the GI tract, risk factors, screening methods, treatment options, and more.
- Identify key nursing care management concerns for this patient population – including nursing implications during pretreatment, treatment, and post-treatment
- Identify and troubleshoot common problems that arise in the care of patients with GI cancers.

You will have a 3-week access to this self-paced online course, worth 8.5 contact hours and can access it on your own time and on a schedule that fits your needs.

The course includes 14 learning modules with interactive links and activities, and should take you approximately 8-9 hours to complete, or less than two weeks if you spend just one hour an evening! The learning level for this course should be considered as intermediate.

The inaugural course begins September 15 with enrollment starting now through September 8.

2009 Course Dates

September 15 – October 6, 2009

October 13 – November 3, 2009

November 17 – December 8, 2009

This course offers 8.5 CNE contact hours.

ONS is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's (ANCC) Commission on Accreditation.

ONS is approved as a provider of continuing education by the California Board of Registered Nursing, Provider #2850.

Accreditation as an American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission provider refers only to its continuing nursing education activities and does not imply ANCC Commission on Accreditation endorsement of any commercial products.

The credits you earn for this program qualify for ONC-PRO points needed for ONCC certification renewal.